Discrimination Training for Hospital staff

On March 15, 2017 Terrence Samuel Crowley visited the emergency room at Providence Hospital emergency room and registered for medical assistance feeling extremely unwell in Anchorage, Alaska.

After being admitted to the emergency room and being seen by a doctor Mr. Crowley sent for a medical scan and returned to his assigned room. Awaiting the results and to spoken to by the medical staff Mr. Crowley feel asleep. The following Incurred.

Mr. Crowley committing no infraction whatsoever was aggressively awakened by security personnel saying, "Get up you have to leave, you need to go!" as he stood over Mr. Crowley laying in the hospital bed. Mr. Crowley without discussion of any kind sat up in his hospital bed still dressed in his hospital gown.

After making a quick observation of the room, Mr. Crowley saw that there was documentation on top of his clothes which where in a chair in plain view. The door to the room was open exposing the hallway allowing clear line of sight within the room, there was no privacy curtain or partition between Mr. Crowley or the security personnel and or the door to the room.

Mr. Crowley then got out the bed and walked over to his clothes and documentation, while picking up the documentation attempting to review it having not spoken to any medical staff and calmly asking the security personnel to speak with medical staff.

The security personnel continued being verbally aggressive, as well as aggressive in his physical posture continuously Mr. Crowley "hurry up you have to leave, and no he could not speak to medical staff*.

Mr. Crowley was forced to take off his hospital gown and get dressed in front of the security personnel who refused to leave the room or allow Mr. Crowley privacy to get undressed and redressed. There was a female nurse in plain view of Mr. Crowley in the hallway as well as a visible security camera on the ceiling.

Mr. Crowley after being forced to get dressed in front of security personnel was again told no that he couldn't speak to medical staff to receive information about what was diagnosed about his emergency room visit and that he "Has to leave now, you have to leave". The security personnel then proceeded to escort Mr. Crowley up the hallway walking extremely close to Mr. Crowley parading him past hospital staff and or any other person whom may have been able to see them walking up the hallway to the exit doors into the emergency room lobby.

Upon entering the emergency room lobby Mr. Crowley attempted to sit down to review his discharge summary which was never explained to him being prevented from speaking to hospital staff was then told by the security personnel again he had to leave, that he could not be on the Providence Hospital campus and proceeded to say to Mr. Crowley : How are you leaving? Are you walking? Are you catching the bus?

Out of frustration Mr. Crowley finally realizing that he was being Discriminated against said "Fuck You" and began to walk to the exit doors to leave the emergency room, there is a coffee shop located inside the entrance and or exit of the emergency room Mr. Crowley went and got in line to purchase coffee.

The security personnel were standing there from following Mr. Crowley who proceeded to take out his car keys and wallet, Mr. Crowley calmly asked the security personnel if he would like a coffee, and then asked for the security personnel officers name and for the number to file a complaint. The security personnel whose identification badge was turned backwards said "No". Mr. Crowley calmly asked again for the security personnel name and information to file a complaint and again was told "No".

During this time two additional security personnel came to the outside of the coffee shop entrance one appearing to be an African-American male, and one female security personnel never approaching or speaking to Mr. Crowley. After exiting the coffee shop and beginning his exit of the emergency room Mr. Crowley asked the security personnel whom appeared to be African-American security personnel for the information to file a complaint and he said "No".

Mr. Crowley then told him "If I was your son or relative, and you knew how he treated me you would be just as upset as I am", making reference to the security personnel that had escorted Mr. Crowley after awaking him and forcing him to get undressed and redressed in front of him and denying Mr. Crowley to speak with medical staff without cause or any kind of infraction that would warrant such behavior or action. Mr. Crowley exited the emergency room and left the hospital campus without incident.

On April 21, 2017 Mr. Terrence Samuel Crowley arrived at the Providence Hospital emergency room providing transportation for Ms. Lisa Rutzebeck to be seen and back to her place of residence if she was admitted to the hospital from her medical emergency.

Mr. Crowley parked and went into the emergency room lobby to wait for Ms. Rutzebeck, upon going to be seated and putting his belongings down Mr. Crowley noticed within the Security observation post located in the lobby was the security personnel whom was directly involved during Mr. Crowley's emergency room visit on March 15, 2017.

Mr. Crowley then saw another security personnel enter the security post, upon that security personnel exiting Mr. Crowley calmly approached him asking him to speak to a supervisor he sharply replied, "for what!". Mr. Crowley calmly replied because he needed to speak with a supervisor about an incident. The security personnel walked towards the security office, the security personnel from the March 15, 2017 incident remained within the security post.

Mr. Crowley was then approached by three security personnel one identifying himself as the supervisor and said first your going to have to give me that knife on your hip you can't have that in here.

Mr. Crowley calmly told the supervisor that he apologized and that he was not aware that he couldn't have the knife in the emergency room and was it ok for him to go put the knife in his vehicle, the supervisor said yes that was fine. Mr. Crowley left out calmly in compliance with the supervisor's permission.

Upon Mr. Crowley re-entering the security personnel supervisor and two other security personnel where waiting at the entrance Mr. Crowley returned with a book in his hand and began explaining the afore-mentioned incident that occurred in March not sure at that time of the exact day.

So, Mr. Crowley went to the registration window located directly in front of him and the security personnel to ask for the information of his last visit.

The person at the registration window told Mr. Crowley that he Had to register to be seen to be given that information although Mr. Crowley was providing his State of Alaska Identification Card. The person said what do you want to be seen for? Mr. Crowley said, "my back I guess". He was then given his last visit information of March 15, 2017.

Mr. Crowley informed the security personnel supervisor he simply just wanted the primary security personnel that was involved on March 15, 2017 to apologize to him. The supervisors reply was "No I'm not going to do that". Mr. Crowley calmly informed that he didn't understand why he was treated like that and that an apology was all that he wanted. The supervisor said he had the information and he'd investigate it.

Mr. Crowley mentally distraught went through the process of being admitted to the emergency room where he then began to suffer a mental breakdown and began crying unconsolably and repeating over and over out loud that he just wanted an apology. He called his mother who was unable to console him as Mr. Crowley kept saying he didn't understand, that he was sleeping, mama I was just sick I wasn't doing anything wrong, I was just sleeping, in reference to the incident in March. Several hospital staff members entered Mr. Crowley's room and he continuously repeated that all he wanted was an apology.

He was discharged after refusing medical treatment for his back.

Mr. Terrence Samuel Crowley has never been served or otherwise told that he was or would be Trespassing prior to nor after his emergency room visit.

The actions of the hospital staff and the security personnel not only violated hospital discrimination policy but also Mr. Crowley's civil rights as a citizen of The United States of America.

Mr. Terrence Samuel Crowley is an African-American male and had also used Providence Hospital prior to these events
